Going on Vacation? Here's How To Protect Yourself and Your Home

Each year thousands of vacationers experience the humiliating, degrading, and sometimes frightful effects of crime. You might think I'm talking about personal assault, but statistics indicate there's a more common crime: personal theft while on vacation.

Although summer and holidays are the most popular time for vacations, anytime you travel for business or pleasure, you can become a target for burglars and thieves. Many of them are watching and waiting for just the right opportunity to strike.

Here are a few tips to dramatically reduce your chances of becoming a victim:

Protecting Your Home:

- ✓ When leaving your home, double check all doors and window locks, and purchase slide-lock protection for sliding doors – a frequent point of entry for burglars. The locks cost less than a dollar and simply screw onto your window frame. Garage windows and doors, also a frequent point of entry, should be secured.
- ✓ Ask a friend to stop by your home at different times while you are away, or to be a house sitter. Ask them to turn on lights at night, or consider buying a light timer set for every evening. Setting up multiple timers in alternating rooms works best. Radio timers are also a good idea.
- ✓ Temporarily cancel newspaper subscriptions and postpone mail delivery, unless you've made arrangements for someone to pick up these items on a daily basis.
- ✓ Engrave your name or an identifiable number (your own "secret code") on large valuables. It makes them less attractive to burglars, and makes them easier to identify and recover if they are stolen.
- ✓ Consider installing an alarm system, which can serve not only as protection, but may qualify you for a discount on your homeowner's insurance.
- ✓ If you have more than one car, park your second vehicle in your driveway while you're away. If you will be away for more than a week, ask a friend to change the position of the car a few times during your absence.
- ✓ Move expensive electronic equipment away from the windows where they might be visible.
- ✓ Don't give your home a "closed-down" look by completely shutting drapes and blinds.

Word For The Month...

Experts say a strong vocabulary is a sign of higher intellect and advanced culture. Here's this month's word, so you can impress your friends and colleagues...

Moribund \mohr-eh-behnd\ (adj.)

Meaning: Inactive or becoming outmoded. Obsolete.

Example Sentence: Mr. Keebles refuses to part with his moribund IBM cardpunch machine and mainframe computer in his computer technology class at the high school.

Consumer Corner...

Here are a few neat tricks you can use around your home.

- ♦ Nutritious Soft Drinks: Does your family drink too many soft drinks? A healthy substitute is to add a little club soda, ginger ale or lemon lime soft drink to your favorite juices.
- ♦ Iron Maintenance: Does your iron pull and drag on fabric because of brown spots on the sole plate? Rub it with a mixture of heated vinegar and salt to remove the mineral deposits. The inside of the iron may need cleaning, too. Fill the water reservoir with white vinegar water and let the iron heat and steam for a few minutes. Pour out the vinegar water and rinse with clean water. Before using on clothes, steam iron on an old rag until the steam runs clear.
- ♦ Handy Bags: Throw a couple plastic grocery bags into your car's glove compartment. They will come in handy on outings to hold little treasures like wet bathing suits, fast-food trash, or anything you need to seal quickly and easily.
- ♦ Perfect Flowers: Flowers from your garden don't need to flop in a vase. A plastic scouring pad placed in the bottom of the vase makes a great floral "frog." They fit into odd-shaped containers too.

Quote of the Month...

"The only service a friend can really render is to keep up your courage by holding up to you a mirror in which you can see a noble image of yourself."
-George Bernard Shaw

- ✓ Make sure your homeowner's policy is paid and the policy suits your current needs.
- ✓ Arrange for lawn and landscaping services if your trip will be longer than a week.
- ✓ Never leave spare keys "hidden" under doormats or anywhere outside your home.
- ✓ If you're departing from a local airport, don't write your personal address on your luggage tags. Use a business address instead.

While On Vacation:

- ✓ Use a hotel safe to store valuable items instead of leaving them in your hotel room.
- ✓ Keep the entry and balcony doors locked and use deadbolts and chains wherever possible.
- ✓ Don't open the door to anyone. Even if a hotel repairman shows up, call the front desk to verify that a repairman has been sent.
- ✓ Don't leave keys lying around when you're at the beach or pool.
- ✓ If you rent a car, be sure the rental agency is not advertised anywhere on the car. Tourists and travelers are frequently targeted by these means.
- ✓ Always lock your car, even if you will be gone for just a few minutes.
- ✓ At night, park in a lighted, visible place. If someone seems to be following you to your car, walk past it and find help.

All it takes is a little common sense and forethought, and you can measurably reduce your chances of becoming a victim of crime.

Are You Haunting Open Houses?

Do you find yourself getting that urge to drop-into Open Houses, even when you're busy? You're not alone. Many homeowners visit open houses to get design ideas, or to see how their home compares in the neighborhood.

But if you find yourself attracted to Open Houses frequently, you might want to ask yourself "why." You may find that, even though you're happy with your current home, you might be subconsciously searching for your dream home. Perhaps you want a bigger yard. A quieter street. A gourmet kitchen.

Whatever the reason, I can help. My computerized "Home Search" system can almost instantly search the market finding the exact home you want – automatically. I can get you daily updates on the newest homes on the market, hidden bargains, investment properties, and more. And there's never any pressure when working with me, just great service. Even if you're just "thinking" and want to know what's "out there," call me at 928-710-8613.

Fast Relief For Weekend Warriors

If you ever get a sprain, headache, or other ailment that needs application of an ice pack, you can make your own easily and cheaply with simple water and rubbing alcohol.

Here's how: Pour $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of water and $\frac{1}{4}$ cup rubbing alcohol into a zippered storage bag and close. Put the bag into another bag, seal, and freeze. Because the alcohol doesn't freeze, you will end up with a nice, flexible, slushy ice pack. Be sure to label the contents clearly so that no one will try to use it for anything edible. Double or triple the recipe for larger packs.

Thrifty Tip Of The Month...

Here's a great way to buy quality paint for your home at pennies on the dollar.

Many paint stores have a supply of paint that is either not exactly the color the customer really wanted, or the customer who ordered the color never came back to pick it up.

These paints are called "mistints," and you can buy them for only a few dollars per gallon. There is nothing wrong with the paint; it's just that the company cannot sell it as regular stock because it was a special mix. It's a win-win situation for the store and for you!

Wacky Bumper Stickers...

Here is a series of strange, but true bumper stickers seen around the country...

- ◆ CAUTION! I Drive Like You Do!
- ◆ I'm Back By Popular Demand
- ◆ They're Not Hot Flashes, They're POWER SURGES!
- ◆ The Big Bang Theory: God Spoke and BANG It Happened

Life Lessons...

- ◆ The most valuable function performed by the federal government is entertainment.
- ◆ A person who is nice to you, but rude to a waiter, is not a nice person.
- ◆ No matter what happens, someone will find a way to take it way too seriously.
- ◆ The main accomplishment of almost all organized protests is to annoy people who are not in them.
- ◆ There is a fine line between "hobby" and "mental illness."

Could Antibiotics Prevent Heart Disease?

Everyone knows that cholesterol, high blood pressure, and lack of exercise are factors in heart disease. Now a new player has entered the field—infection. Researchers have found a bacterium that causes pneumonia, "Chlamydia Pneumoniae," in the arterial plaques present in obstructed coronary arteries.

In preliminary studies, patients with atherosclerosis who were given antibiotics against Chlamydia fared better than those who were not so treated. Some doctors suggest that anyone who has had a heart attack should consider taking an antibiotic long enough to eradicate any Chlamydia infection that may be present.

There are currently many studies underway. If they turn out to be valid, we may have a new tool against heart disease. For more information contact your doctor, or go to www.americanheart.org.

Do You Have A Home Inventory?

What's the best way to make the most of your insurance dollars and protect your belongings in case of an emergency or disaster? Create a home inventory of everything you own.

According to the Insurance Information Institute, the home inventory will help you to:

- ◆ Purchase enough insurance to replace the items you own.
- ◆ Get insurance claims settled faster.
- ◆ Substantiate losses for income tax purposes.

To make the task easier, the Institute created "Know Your Stuff – Home Inventory Software" available as a free download at www.knowyourstuff.org. The software lets you store digital photographs along with your list of possessions. You can burn a copy of the information on a CD or print out a room-by-room document and store either in a safety deposit box or other secure location.

Here's good advice: Make it fun by getting the family involved. Have your kids help out by opening closets and drawers and listing the contents.

Did You Know...

- ◆ Hershey's kisses are called that because the machine that makes them looks like it's kissing the conveyor belt.
- ◆ The longest recorded flight of a chicken is thirteen seconds.
- ◆ An ostrich's eye is bigger than its brain.
- ◆ "I am" is the shortest complete sentence in the English language.
- ◆ A duck's quack doesn't echo, and no one knows why.

Thanks for Thinking of Me!

Real Estate Corner...

Buying a home may be the largest and most complex financial transaction you ever undertake. If you are ready to buy a home, wouldn't you prefer to work with the most qualified real estate professional you can find? I am proud to hold an Accredited Buyer's Representative (ABR[®]) designation. The ABR[®] designation is awarded by the Real Estate Buyer's Agent Council (REBAC), a wholly-owned subsidiary of the National Association of REALTORS[®] (NAR). The designation is awarded only to licensed real estate professionals who complete specialized training which gives them the edge in understanding a buyer's perspective and protecting and promoting buyer-clients' interests. Before I could earn the ABR[®] I had to demonstrate proven experience in representing buyers.

I have made the extra effort to raise the bar, with additional training and experience, to provide you the highest level of buyer-representation services, specifically to:

- Understand your specific needs and wants and to locate appropriate properties
- Assist you in determining how much you can afford
- Preview and accompany you in viewing properties
- Advise you in formulating your offer
- Help to develop a negotiating strategy
- Provide a list of qualified inspectors, lenders, escrow officers, etc for services you may need
- Keep track of every detail throughout the transaction – to closing and beyond

I am committed to maintaining my professional edge by staying current on the latest issues and trends in the ever-changing real estate market place.
